

UPDATED: UCSD Statement Regarding UHS Bathroom Stall Message

Following a student writing this message (“He Comes 2:11 2/09/17 Cthulhu Ftagn”) using blood from his bloody nose that was left on an Urbandale High School bathroom stall this morning, we have continued to investigate the situation by working directly with the student, the student’s family, and law enforcement. In doing so, law enforcement has confirmed the message on the bathroom wall does not pose an ongoing threat to students or staff. The student responsible for the message is not in the building and is at home with parental supervision. Appropriate steps are being taken to resolve the situation. No one is hurt and there is not an ongoing threat. All students and staff are safe and will continue to follow our regular school schedule today, Thursday, February 9, 2017.
